GRAPEVINE, Texas – Grapevine voters crowded the Stacy’s Furniture Community Room Thursday night to hear from all six candidates running for the May 12th Grapevine City Council Election.

An impressive number of 132 voters and citizens turned out to hear from Place 3 candidates Mark J. Born, Mike Lease, Rob Undersander and Traci Wilkinson and Place 4 candidates Darlene Freed (i) and Warren Hummer.

UTA Political Science Professor Allan Saxe moderated the evening and asked each candidate what problems face Grapevine. Traffic and preservation of residents’ quality of life were the repeated answers. The candidates also forecast what Grapevine will be like in ten years, under their leadership.

Audience members submitted questions also, ranging from which part of Grapevine the candidates live to whether the candidates were running now as a stepping stone to one day unseat current Mayor William D. Tate.

The forum was sponsored by the Colleyville, Grapevine, Southlake Democrats as a community service project, meant to encourage greater community participation in local politics.
